With the emergence of consumer-driven markets and multiple channels, brand managers now need new ways to engage and build customer relationships. Consumers and businesses expect a relevant, personal dialogue with an organization. Marketing communications managers are expected to demonstrate a meaningful return on investment from their programs. It’s not enough to “push” messages to mass audiences. You have to reach many markets at the same time.

In the Ron Jacobs and Bob Stone certificate program, you’ll learn the latest strategies, tools and techniques in direct, interactive, digital and database marketing—from planning through execution and measurement. Outstanding instructors share their experiences, case studies and real-world examples. And, with new ways to track the performance of your programs, you’ll be able to sell your marketing ideas to the CEO, president, CFO and CMO.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND
- Marketing communications professionals
- Organizational leaders wanting accountability in marketing programs
- Account executives working in performance-based interactive marketing
- Clients of an agency or consulting firm who want perspective to evaluate service
- Brand managers trying to add interactive and direct marketing to a budget
- Small business owners or entrepreneurs needing cost-effective marketing tools
- Customer relationship management managers wanting to retain the best customers
- Acquisitions managers wanting to build life-time customer value
- Retention managers who want to communicate effectively with valuable customers

HOW YOU WILL BENEFIT
- Gain extraordinary, practical expertise from successful practitioners
- Learn the most powerful and cost-effective way to market and secure new customers
- Implement direct, interactive, digital and database marketing in your organization

Discounts may be available through membership in your marketing association.

THE KELLSTADT MARKETING CENTER COURSES AND SEMINARS

BUSINESS WRITING AND GRAMMAR ESSENTIALS
Writing is an essential skill in the workplace. From emails, proposals and briefs to evaluations, reports and social media posts, nearly every professional is regularly tasked with writing for business. No matter what you write, it is important to communicate accurately and effectively. In this seminar, you’ll learn to use the correct grammar and punctuation as well as some common mistakes people make in word choice. In-class exercises are offered to sharpen your skills for both professional and personal use.

CONSUMER BEHAVIOR SEMINAR: UNDERSTANDING CONSUMER TRENDS
Understanding consumer behavior relies on data to reveal how people use the things they buy as well as how they interact with brands and companies. Business professionals must learn to gather consumer insights in order to strategize and implement effective marketing plans. In this seminar, you will learn the value in understanding consumer trends through consumer insights. You will discover how to expose these trends and analyze them in a way that brings value to your business.

MARKETING BOOT CAMP
With changing demographics, technological advances and aggressive competitors in today’s business landscape, understanding the fundamentals of marketing is more important than ever. Marketing Boot Camp will provide you with a fundamental understanding of the principles and language of marketing. Develop the skills necessary to conduct an environmental analysis, evaluate strategic alternatives and identify appropriate marketing strategies. This full-day basic marketing seminar is designed for professionals who are new to marketing, interact closely with marketers or want to improve their marketing skills for career advancement.

MARKETING RETURN ON INVESTMENT (ROI): TECHNIQUES TO PROVE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF DIRECT AND INTERACTIVE MARKETING
Today’s marketers are expected to be more accountable: Is a program or campaign effective in the marketplace? That can be difficult to measure, especially across multiple channels. In this seminar, you’ll learn how to measure marketing ROI. Learn to make “go” and “no go” decisions based on real-world scenarios while picking up skills you can use on the job.

ONLINE GOOGLE ANALYTICS PREP COURSE: PREPARE FOR GOOGLE ANALYTICS CERTIFICATION
Earning your Google Analytics Certification will demonstrate your ability to understand how customers engage with a brand’s web properties, make data-driven decisions and prove your worth to employers. In this online course, you will learn how to utilize the Google Analytics platform to set up and generate goals as well as measure campaign data. You will learn to build marketing performance reports within the tool and analyze results to improve your marketing plan, generate leads and reduce cart abandonment rates. This six-week course is ideal for marketing professionals preparing for Google Analytics Certification.

SEARCH ENGINE OPTIMIZATION
People are using the internet to search for any manner of things in today’s virtual marketplace. And, businesses are competing for the opportunity to connect with these people. In order for your website to be found, you need to know how to leverage search engine optimization (SEO) to help drive relevant traffic and realize your goals in profit and revenue.

This seminar will teach you how search engines like Google and Bing work, the fundamentals of SEO including keyword research, content creation and the importance of linking, and the tactics used to ensure your content is properly indexed.

SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING
Twitter, Facebook, YouTube—Are companies using these outlets to communicate with customers? You bet they are and you can too. This seminar shows you how to use social media to enhance your business or career. The future of advertising and marketing is not a one-way message; it’s a relationship between you and the consumer. Understand the benefits of using social media to communicate, collaborate and entertain. Case studies and real-time demonstrations are presented to show the low-cost/high-yield benefits of making social media part of your marketing program.
